

I believe that cell phone use should be permitted on board planes. The reason the ban was put in place was for safety concerns. If the FCC does not believe this to be a warranted ban any longer then it should be lifted. The ban is not a social concern and people who are bothered by cell phone chatter have to endure it everywhere else so being on a flight should be no different.